AND SMALL WONDER . . . with so many colleagues out of civilian practice, the pace grows terrific. Ever-jangling telephone . . . calls piling on calls . . . sleep snatched when you can . . . and meals hastily eaten or missed.

Proper sleep and rest may be difficult to obtain. But you can make certain of more adequate nutrition through regular use of VI-SYNERAL as a supplement.

VI-SYNERAL'S NEWLY INCREASED POTENCIES assure a higher vitamin-mineral intake . . .

helping you meet grueling days in better health, hence with body more vigorous and mind more alert.

A great many physicians have voluntarily written us about the effectiveness of VI-SYNERAL, not only for their patients, but for themselves as well. Why not insure a greater vitamin-mineral intake for yourself, doctor?

As our contribution to help you meet the added strain of these times, we will send you a complimentary package of VI-SYNERAL upon request.

Lowered resistance to tuberculosis...
How to watch for it!

TUBERCULIN PATCH TEST

(Vollmer) Lederle

WAR ITSELF MAY BE VIEWED as a cyclic epidemic that brings in its train a whole series of infections to prey upon the exhaustion of its victims. Malnutrition, overcrowding, overactivity and undue exposure to cold and wet, combine to harass civilians and combatants alike when war is fought as much upon the home front as in the combat zone.

When to these factors of lowered resistance is added contact with clinical tuberculosis, the stage is set for rapid spread of the disease among the susceptible elements of the population. Thus in war the secular downward trend of tuberculosis flattens out and may exhibit a war-time ascent.

The "TUBERCULIN PATCH TEST (Vollmer) Lederle" has facilitated large-scale case-finding surveys by school and public health authorities<sup>1,2</sup> throughout the United States. It has the advantages of ease of application, reliability and painlessness.

Photograph Camp prenatal support (skeleton indrawn)

Today, more babies are on the way than in any time during the last 20 years! Naturally, there is a corresponding rise in the need and demand for prenatal supports.

The S. H. Camp and Company has developed over a period of more than 30 years—a complete series of maternity supports . . . each type scientifically designed and constructed . . . each type giving accurate support to the abdomen, pelvic girdle and spinal column.

In fact, not a single detail which will add to their clinical value has been neglected.

That these garments successfully measure up to the most stringent clinical requirements is evident—since they carry the approval of many leading gynecologists and obstetricians throughout the world.

The Camp series of prenatal supports comprise models suitable for all types of build. Patients are asked to return each month for adjustment of their prenatal supports. This service is given free of charge by all Camp-trained fitters.

PROTEIN ALLERGY

$9.75

ALLERGIC PATIENTS who suffer from asthma, infantile eczema, etc., throughout the entire year are usually found, on testing, to be sensitive to one or more proteins, representing in most cases a causative or contributing factor.

This set of diagnostic allergens containing 80 of the most common causative factors (list shown at right) will enable physicians to have diagnostic material immediately available. These extracts do not deteriorate if vials are kept corked. No refrigeration necessary.

Each vial contains a sufficient amount of allergenic extract for a minimum of five tests. No substitution in this list permitted.

Full instruction and necessary diluent accompany each set. Simple technique makes it easy to employ this inexpensive diagnostic aid. Cash must accompany order.

Allergy literature, including a 48 page booklet, "A Treatise on Allergy for the General Practitioner," and complete price lists will be mailed upon request.

DO WOMEN IN THE FORTIESAppeal to You?*

WOMEN in their forties often appeal to physicians to provide relief from the distressing symptoms of the menopause. Whether such patients are suffering from the well-recognized vasomotor disturbances or those of vaguer character such as headaches, emotional instability, depression, anxiety and muscle pains—adequate estrogenic therapy will, in a large percentage of cases, relieve the symptoms.

The high clinical effectiveness of Amniotin in relieving the distressing vasomotor symptoms of the menopause has been amply demonstrated by numerous clinical reports published during the past 12 years. The product has likewise proved valuable in treating other conditions related to a deficiency of estrogenic substances.

TWO NEW ADVANTAGES

The new economy size vials of Amniotin offer two distinct advantages. They provide a substantial saving over the cost of Amniotin in ampuls and they facilitate use of fractional doses without waste of material.

Differing from estrogenic substances containing or derived from a single crystalline factor, Amniotin is a highly purified, non-crystalline preparation of naturally occurring estrogenic substances derived from pregnant mares' urine. Its estrogenic activity is expressed in terms of the equivalent of international units of estrone. In addition to the economy vial packages and the ampuls (both of which are for intramuscular injection) you can secure Amniotin in capsules for oral administration and in pessaries for intravaginal use.

As Lady Macbeth proved, one way to assure a restless night is "to have things on your mind." Of her case the physician despairingly said, "this disease is beyond my practice"—because the heart was "sorely charged with an evil deed."

Quite different is the case of the modern insomniac whose suffering so often is the result of worry and apprehension, aggravated perhaps by war-time anxiety. To him restful, almost normal sleep, may be brought by the judicious administration of Medinal (S. & G. brand of soluble barbitol). Medinal will take the edge off anxiety and send the weary to bed more hopeful that a good night's rest will not be awaited in vain.

In addition to Medinal tablets there is now available a palatable Elixir of Medinal. A trial supply of either will be gladly sent to physicians on request.

BRIEF HISTORICAL NOTES

ON

MEAD'S CEREAL AND PABLUM

HAND in hand with pediatric progress, the introduction of Mead's Cereal in 1930 marked a new concept in the function of cereals in the child's dietary. For 150 years before that, since the days of "pap" and "panada," there had been no noteworthy improvement in the nutritive quality of cereals for infant feeding. Cereals were fed principally for their carbohydrate content.

The formula of Mead's Cereal was designed to supplement the baby's diet in minerals and vitamins, especially iron and B<sub>1</sub>. How well it has succeeded in these functions may be seen from two examples:

(1) As little as one-sixth ounce of Mead's Cereal supplies over half of the iron and more than one-fifth of the vitamin B<sub>1</sub> minimum requirements of the 3-months-old bottle-fed baby. (2) One-half ounce of Mead's Cereal furnishes all of the iron and two-thirds of the vitamin B<sub>1</sub> minimum requirements of the 6-months-old breast-fed baby.

That the medical profession has recognized the importance of this contribution is indicated by the fact that cereal is now included in the baby's diet as early as the third or fourth month instead of at the sixth to twelfth month as was the custom only a decade or two ago.

In 1933 Mead Johnson & Company went a step further, improving the Mead's Cereal mixture by a special process of cooking, which rendered it easily tolerated by the infant and at the same time did away with the need for prolonged cereal cooking in the home. The result is Pablum, an original product which offers all of the nutritional qualities of Mead's Cereal, plus the convenience of thorough scientific cooking.

During the last ten years, these products have been used in a great deal of clinical investigation on various aspects of nutrition, which have been reported in the scientific literature.

Many physicians recognize the pioneer efforts on the part of Mead Johnson & Company by specifying Mead's Cereal and PABLUM.

Pablum is a palatable mixed cereal food, vitamin and mineral enriched, composed of wheatmeal (farina), oatmeal, cornmeal, wheat embryo, beef bone, brewers' yeast, alfalfa leaf, sodium chloride, and reduced iron.
